

A Note from...

John Fowler
TCS HEAD OF SCHOOL

Dear Parents,

We hope you are well, and adjusting to the temporary changes that have disrupted all of our lives. We miss you and your children very much. I have had the opportunity to be in classes every day with our students, and I can attest that they are learning and managing to connect with each other and their teachers in many, often unexpected, ways. I cannot tell you how much their humor means to us at this time.

The commitment of time and caring we made to each other before this crisis is what is keeping TCS strong through it. I am proud of our teachers, who have been fostering learning and love even as they attend to their own families. As part of our commitment to you, your children will be receiving optional work they can do over spring break. Each grade will also be doing a virtual check-in. Finally, plans are being finalized for some interesting co-curricular activities for the week; more news on that tomorrow.

When we return from break, we will be offering virtual after-school enrichment to provide further opportunities for your children in the afternoons.

We are committed to providing our community a sense of stability in uncertain times. As I am sure you know by now, social distancing has been extended until at least the end of April. This means that all schools are required to continue in distance-learning mode for the remainder of the month. We continue to monitor the situation daily, and when we are given the clearance to reopen, are more than ready to return to campus and resume in-person learning. We are going to get through this together.

Stay healthy and cherish this time with those you love.

Sincerely,
